*I*N THIS DAY when the serenity that comes with peace is but a memory, when our every thought is turned to production efficiency at home and battles on distant shores, it is fitting that college students, future leaders of America, pause a moment and give thought to that which may come after the ordeal is over. First will come victory, with its exhilaration and glory, and then years of rehabilitation and reconstruction. In preparation for this day are we working—working here in Lewisburg by preparing ourselves to be farsighted in dealing with our fellow men, and out “beyond,” by making the world safe for “our way of life.”

It is not enough to dedicate this book to our fighting men, for they would not have it so. They have proven that their thoughts and hopes go far beyond themselves, and so we dedicate our book to the ideals for which they are fighting. They seem to say to us in the words of John McCrae.

“To you from falling hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flander’s Field.”

In Flander’s Fields all over the world, Bucknellians are laying down their lives that we may have the torch to carry on. It is to catch this flaming brand that we are preparing ourselves, it is for this that Bucknell stands. Those who have climbed the hill before us, those who have sacrificed the serenity of home and college, are laying the ground work for victory and for a better world thereafter. We must catch the torch they fling us and carry on the Crusade against despotism and tyranny.

In this fifty-third edition of L’AGENDA we have tried to picture the Bucknell we see, as it has been moulded by world events. Gone are many of the gay times, but we do not linger on their memory. Instead we look to the future—ready to catch the torch and hold it high. To this ideal, we reverently dedicate our book.

FOREWORD

1943 is indeed a monumental year in the annals of Bucknell, as well as in those of the nation. We have seen the machine of war gather speed and thunder on to turn the tide of battle. We have found our everyday lives altered and we have made material sacrifices. We have not, however, witnessed destruction from the sky, nor felt the lash of the dictator's whip.

In years of war, many are the difficulties met in trying to carry on peaceful projects. Materials are needed for the conflict, money can be more wisely spent for vital purposes, prices rise, and populations fluctuate rapidly. All these changes have had their repercussions in our college life. New problems have been faced and solved; all about us is the confusion that comes with the transitional—the new. We are witnessing the end of an era—and from the innovations of our times will come the college of the future.

In publishing this L'AGENDA, we have endeavored to express the spirit of Bucknell as it has gone to war—as it has steeled itself against the perils of the times. Within these pages we present a resume of the year 1942-43 that will, to the students, recall to memory the joys found in college life, and to other readers, bring a further understanding and appreciation of the love we have for Bucknell.

EACH Bucknellian should keep this 1943 L'AGENDA for the balance of his or her life, to be brought out every now and then and read again as a trophy of one of the most interesting epochs in the history of mankind. For the present college year is the transition year from the world-that-was to the world-that-is-to-be.

The nature of the world-that-is-to-be is not yet clear, but we can hope and work and believe that it will become more and more like our little Bucknell world of intel-

I am grateful to the members of the class of 1943 who have done so much during this storm-tossed year to maintain and strengthen the traditions of the Bucknell
Way of Life. And I am confident that you will continue your devotion to these tradi-

A democratic group, composed of students and members of the faculty representing leading campus organizations, makes up the body of the Student-Faculty Congress. Its purpose is to act as an advisory body on student activities, fix the budget of the different Interest Groups on campus, and to settle any misunderstandings or complaints that arise between the student body and the faculty members. It is because such an organization exists that we live as a family at Bucknell and not as two separate groups. Students and Faculty both agree that its purpose is a necessary and worthwhile one.

The Executive Board this year consisted of Walter Held, President; Paul Winter, Vice President; Jeanne Haynes Thomas, Secretary; and Jean Richards, Treasurer. The group is advised by Dr. James Gathings on matters of policy and procedure.

Bucknell Council of Defense

The Bucknell Council of Defense was exceedingly active this year. In cooperation with state and local defense councils, it worked to provide civilian protection and to perform civilian war services.

The Council met frequently to discuss plans, but the major part of the work was carried on by means of separate committees. The Service Council worked with the C. A. in its program of dedicating the service flag in chapel, sending boxes to Bucknellians in the armed forces, and keeping close contact with Bucknellians in the service. Other committees included: Salvage, Medical Service, which sponsored and directed immunization, Red Cross Training, Publicity, Information Center, Sale of War Bonds and Stamps, Role of a College in War Time, and Director of Training.

Examples of Wickey's art.

HARRY WICKEY

OUTSTANDING among the names of Modern American artists is that of Harry Wickey, famous sculptor, etcher, and lithographer. Bucknell has been proud to have him upon the campus this year in the role of "Artist-in-Residence," and L'AGENDA is honored to present his choice of the seven loveliest women from the twelve selected by the senior class. Following is his letter explaining his selection:

DEAR MISS BOND:

When I was asked to select the most beautiful girl and her court from the class of 1943, I accepted with a full knowledge of the responsibility involved.

In order to judge as fairly as personal prejudice would allow, it seemed advisable to meet and talk with the twelve senior girls as a group. Judging from photographs seemed somewhat unfair inasmuch as certain individuals photograph well while others do not, and then again the photograph can do so much that nature never intended.

My selections were based on poise, physical proportions, and attire. The importance given to each characteristic was in the order named for I believe that beauty, in its true sense, is based on character, and physical characteristics, although very important, must take second place. As some persons fail to clothe themselves or dress their hair in a way most becoming to their types, I gave due consideration to that aspect also.

It is my hope that the selections I have made will receive a measure of approval by the student body at Bucknell, and at the same time I would like to extend my best to all that participated in the event.

Sincerely yours,

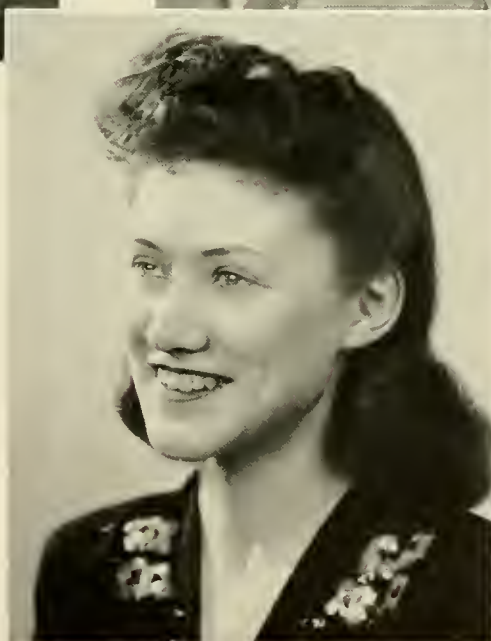

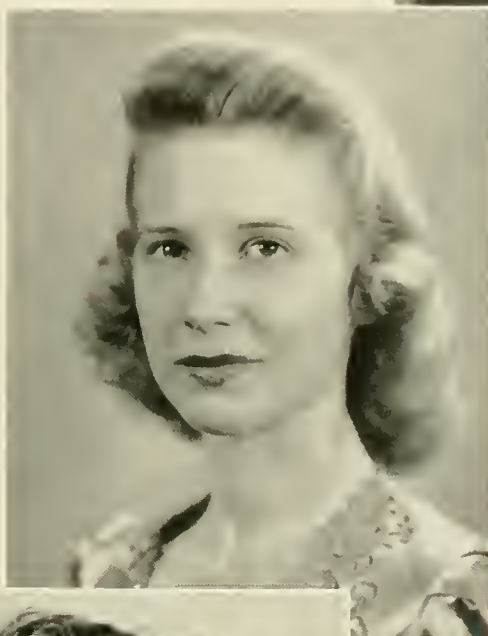

Harry Wickey

Bucknell has a word that encompasses all fraternity men—"Greeks." When good Greeks gather together to discuss common problems, we have an Inter-Fraternity Council. This organization holds an important place on the campus, for it attempts to maintain harmonious relations among the fraternities and to act as an intermediary between the University and the fraternities. It is under the supervision of a faculty adviser, and is composed of two men, a junior and senior, from each of the eleven fraternities on the campus.

The Council holds supper meetings once a month at various fraternity houses, after which problems are discussed. These meetings aid greatly in promoting a more congenial attitude among the fraternity men, for individual differences are smoothed out, and problems confronting the group as a whole are settled. Every year the council establishes the rules governing Rushing Week for fraternities. This year they were instrumental in lowering the requirements for initiation. Despite the Council's other activities, it does not neglect the social side of life. Each year they sponsor an Inter-Fraternity Ball which is gaining rapidly in popularity.

Thus, here at Bucknell we exemplify one of the principles for which we are fighting—that is, to meet together and settle our differences by free discussion.

Following the lead of our president, Dr. A. C. Marts, the Alpha Chi Mus along with other Bucknellians have gone all out for victory. Five of the seven members of last year's graduating class are serving with Uncle Sam in the Army, Navy, and Air Force; one member of the group has assumed a position in a vital defense plant, and the final graduate has gone to Drew Theological Seminary to prepare for post-war service. Since then six undergraduates have answered the call to duty. We gladly send these men out to service, knowing that they go in order that the American way of life, which we at Bucknell strive to exemplify, may be preserved.

Our efforts to reach a new location nearer the campus have been postponed because of the present crisis. We accept these conditions without complaint, having the faith that we Americans shall arise after the war in a new spirit of brotherhood to build a new and better world.

Alpha Chi Mu athletic teams were affected by lack of sufficient material. The volleyball, soccer, and cross-country teams, however, made very good showing against teams of the larger organizations on the campus. The Snyder boys took third and tenth places in the cross-country, while Bob Reed and Dick Hay, with the able assistance of Rog Fraser, led the soccer team on a brilliant campaign. King Snyder, Johnny Galbreath, Lamar "Hedy" Haupt, and Dave Douglas sparked the volleyball team in six encounters.

In the realm of social life, the pledge dance of February 22 proved to be the outstanding event on Alpha Chi Mu's calendar. A friendly crowd danced to the tunes of a war-time "juke-box", and a good time was had by all. Despite war conditions Alpha Chi Mu is able to look back upon a favorable year, scholastically, socially, and otherwise.

Hi there, folks! The Demies are in again, and in better form than ever. 1942-43 has been a red-letter year in our history, starting off with the official opening in September of our new house high atop the hill. Now we and our mascot, Brutus Mac-Tavish, survey the local terrain from the loftiest peak on the campus.

Whether this served as inspiration or not is hard to tell, but it looks as though we made off with more laurels than ever before . . . every thing from Phi Beta Kappa and Intramural honors to freshmen and girls at the Sem seemed to come our way, with, of course, a little concentrated effort on our part.

The war brought innovations and a great many changes in our personnel, but it had its brighter side too. We now number among our brothers a real "Flying Tiger," better known in these parts perhaps as George T. Burgard. Then, too, we've enjoyed entertaining certain personages that have visited the campus, such as Flight Commander Hall of the R. A. F., and Mrs. New, a representative of fighting China.

Yes, this is a year to be remembered and noted well. We can't make many plans for the future, but well—we're not worried. We'll be seeing you—So long!

The draft and the 1942 commencement slightly depleted our ranks, but nothing could affect our spirit, for a group of ambitious men returned to the fraternity's sacred confines during the sunny days of late September. First came a job of renovating the inside of the house in preparation for Rushing Week, and then came the jolt of reopening books. But the hard work paid a handsome dividend. Kappa Delta Rho completed its most successful Rushing Week in a decade. Homecoming was next on our program, but, with a cut in supplies of gas and tires, only a small number of alumni were able to return. However, what was lacking in numbers was compensated for in fun and spirit.

By this time pledges were assiduously performing their duties, or else! Building bodies as well as minds, K. D. R. sportsmen eagerly participated in the intramural and basketball games, and pledge Frankie Drout won the 127 lb. boxing championship. Then came our colorful winter formal dance with Bruce Bell and his orchestra providing the music. Experiencing our first mid-year commencement, Bud Wertman became a member of the alumni, and a large number of freshmen became active members. Always present at the door to greet incomers was the affectionate "Mickey," beautiful Irish setter mascot of the House. Regardless of war, K. D. R. had an excellent "all around" year.

At 64 University Avenue stands the English style gathering place of “merriest of men,” better known as the Kappa Sig House. Here may be found brains, as exemplified by Phi Beta Moore, brawn in the persons of our football and soccer men, Merrill, Zingg, Strickland, Quillen and Trecartin, originality in the person of “Baldy” Heuer, and social prestige, illustrated by—well just about any one of us, if given the chance. Of course this fracas the Japs started has left us a little short-handed in places, but by getting a good crop of pledges, we’ve managed to keep things rolling pretty well.

One of the things of which we’re very proud is this year’s record in Intramurals. The boys really played their hearts out for old Kappa Sig, and as a result we won the soccer and basketball trophies, came in second in boxing, third in track and fourth in cross-country.

Although we’re not certain of just what the status of fraternities will be on the campus in the future, with the growing shortage of manpower, there’s one thing on which we can bank. The spirit of the scarlet, green, and white that binds us together will never die, as long as there’s a “crescent and star” over the heart of any man.

"Don't know what to say? Listen, Al, I read the Bucknellian and the Triangle. I'll tell you what to say. Tell them about the swell showing you made during Rushing Week. You came back to school feeling 'down in the mouth' about the war and the future of the University and the house, but you didn't let us down. Take athletics, for example. Tell them how you came in second in cross-country and fourth in track . . . the play-offs in soccer. Look on the mantel. There's that new boxing trophy. Tell 'em about that.

"And how about the social life. There always were good times at Lambda Chi smokers, dinners, and dances. Remember Houseparty last year, and the picnic at Cowan, Spanish Fiesta, and Winter Formal? Boy! I really miss them. Don't forget to mention the part the fellows are playing in extra-curricular activities. You might even give the brothers in the service a line or two.

The grey stone "mansion" on University Avenue was once more the center of campus activity on the "three hundred acres, set apart." Hardly a day passed without some "Fiji" entering into an integral part of the Bucknell way of life. Some played football, others merely made good fourths at bridge, but all was done in the inimitable "Phi Gam" way. Really, it would be hard to find something that one of our group did not have a finger in. Walt Held headed the Student-Faculty Congress. "The King" Matthews added the Junior Class presidency to his already lengthy string of laurels. Pledge Brothers Rickard and Allan were presidents of the Freshman C. A. and Class, respectively. "Fullback" Ray Tyler fluttered hearts in the "sem" with his nocturnal solos—putting the rest of us to shame. A combination hard to beat on the tennis court was MacCall and Culbertson. Basketball teams of the area met three of our number on the Varsity court. In fact, Downes almost wrested the pool championship from "Lucky" Eyster. Our social committee, under the capable leadership of Tommy Walker, provided us with diversion from our usual studious (?) hours. We, who are looking forward to khaki trousers, will have memories of many really big doin's. We've run into some trouble, though, with a man named Uncle Sam. It seems as if he has needed some of our best brothers, and, though we want the war won, we do miss all those stars on the new Service flag. "Parson" Ramage, "Chick" Eldridge, "Bodkin" Bauerschmidt, Dick Coty, Vic Bond, Bill Manko, "Mick" McConnell, and "Nip" Edmunds started the year with us, only to leave before we realized they were gone. But we're trying our best to keep the home-fires burning for them all.

Yes, we've had a good year, and if "Bone-Crusher" Bontempi doesn't maim all of us, or if Paul Winter doesn't make off with the L'AGENDA funds, you'll hear from us again. And, in the meantime, if you can, drop in for a visit. The latch-string is always out.

The tempo of college life has speeded up. Pennsylvania's surrounding mountains look down upon a war-conscious Bucknell. In this setting, Bucknell's oldest fraternity continued to hold a prominent position on the campus by its diversified participation in the war program.

Our senior brothers seriously yet gaily lived their last days at Bucknell, and after a January graduation, moved toward service in Army, Navy, or Air Corps. Out of our accelerated program has grown a stronger, closer-knit group of fellows.

The fraternity stepped along athletically with Len Miller doing some dynamic blocking on Bucknell's football team. Dan Reinhardsen, captain, and Lou Ruttkay churned down the lengths of the soccer field, and Fornwald and Burns flashed the Orange and Blue form on the court.

Intramural competition brought the house the championship in the track meet and also a winner in the basketball league.

World War II found Pat Wolfe, Jack Wickerham, Bud Turnure, Bob Baumer, Jack Freeman, Jack Stockton, Sam Gibson, Bill Watkinson, and George Egan answering Uncle Sam's call to service.

Phi Psi will lose some good men through graduation and war service, but there's an equally fine group coming up to maintain the true fraternal spirit.

A full school year of America at war has passed, and we of S. A. E. found it to be one of our strongest and best. When we returned to the campus last fall, we determined to make the many brothers called to the colors during the summer proud of the chapter and its activities. Therefore, into the confusion of Rushing Week we plunged and emerged with the largest pledge class.

S. A. E. was well represented on the varsity football team, five men receiving their "B's". Other matters besides sports also occupied our attention. Studies were interrupted occasionally by open houses and a gala pledge dance, and the enlisting of almost all the brothers in the different Reserve Corps.

After vacation, our intramural basketball team swung into action, and we missed the cup by only one point. Then as an anti-climax, we settled down to hit the exams.

After recovering from the "blue books," S. A. E. began the new term's work. Neither the Sem nor extra-curricular activities were forgotten. On March 7 we celebrated our fiftieth year on the Bucknell campus with many of the alumni returning for the ceremonies.

Concluding the social calendar was Houseparty Week-end at which a super time was had by all. In May came Commencement and the departure of our seniors. This year ended with S. A. E. stronger than ever, which certainly was a fitting way to mark our 50th anniversary.

Flying over the wastes of Europe on a mission of death, the man at the controls could hear nothing but the lulling whirr of motors, could see nothing but the black of the night. He guided the plane mechanically; slowly present reality disappeared, and soon the sound of the motors faded into the blackness.

In his imagination he was once again at Bucknell, and for a moment he felt dizzy with longing for his college days. Then his reverie turned to thoughts of his fraternity and then to his senior year. "What a final year it was!" He shook his head. Gosh he had been proud to be a Sigma Alpha Mu man. He remembered how elated he was in chapel when his fraternity was given the Scholarship Cup for the second successive year, and then the Rush Kress Trophy. Later on the national fraternity organization presented them with the "Founder's Cup"—for being the best Sammie chapter. "Nor," he thought, "were they slouches in athletics, or extra-curricular activities—as the intramural baseball trophy, varsity team men, class officers, and——."

A jolt of the plane brought him back to reality. He looked hastily at his watch, and then into the blackness. Suddenly he said aloud, and slowly, "This . . . is going to be over soon. May that spirit of fraternity and brotherhood, which is so instilled in me—be instilled in the entire world."

We potential service men in the Sig House had another "corking" good year. After being A. W. O. L. all summer, we arrived back at camp, threw a tow-rope on Sig, polished the All-Year Trophy, and rushed a few Frosh who could perpetuate these barracks and the White Cross. Acquisition of all the Frosh class officers but one, a girl, is some criterion of the background on which this year was molded.

Joining the large number of other Bucknellians who left the campus for service to Uncle Sam, were a number of Sigma Chi's, thus leaving many vacancies about the house, but boosting the number of stars in the service flag of which we're so proud. Bucknell "Sigs" have set out by the score to see the world, and incidently, help finish up that job "over there."

In the athletic realm, the Sigma Chi's were besieged with captaincies, such as Haines, an All-State basketballer became "Cap-py" of the hardwoods. "Ace" Keegan garnered the same title in baseball as did Jack Pink in soccer. Bill Anderson upheld this list by holding the reins for the gridsters.

Finalists in soccer, semi-finalists in basketball, and "champs" in cross-country, with "Jim" Ham breaking the record, proved our well-roundedness and our paramount role in boosting Bucknell.

Only eleven of our members were able to return this fall . . . the rest are in the employ of Uncle Sam. Undaunted by the small active group . . . spurred on by an excellent freshman class, we set to work with a will during Rushing Week and emerged with nineteen pledges to carry on the traditions of those of us called away to do the "bigger job" . . .

EVENTS OF THE YEAR . . . The death of George Calvin Grondy, our faithful mascot, saddens the entire house . . . Herb Heilig, our national Grand Secretary, visits the chapter . . . our pledge dance, featuring Earl Herbert's Band, proves to be one of the most successful on the campus . . . the Chapter Room on fire furnishes excitement on a usually dull Sunday afternoon . . . six members of Mitchell Ayres' Band stay with us the night of Soph Cotillion . . . Uncle Sam keeps us busy bidding our brothers "good-bye" . . .

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ABOUT THE HOUSE . . . Art Blockhaus capably performing the worrying functions for all the brothers . . . "Maniac" Clancy practicing his powers of hypnotism . . . on the receiving end of Joe Levi's body blocks is "Bugs Bunny" Reed who consumes his daily ration of carrots . . . Gordon and Kistler furnishing excellent musical entertainment on the piano . . . "Yogi" Harper promising to make professors disappear upon request.

Oak leaves and cornstalks in Hunt Rec Room lent autumnal atmosphere to our first activity of the year—and SCC open house, where Joe and Mary College were royally treated to the best big name bands in the country! Early December, and a crew under "Admirable Dylla" romped through an informal Navy Frolic with entertainment for the Frosh. True to the navy spirit of the evening was the introduction of Marion Phillips as the first WAVE of the class of '43. Also in SCC's senior hall of fame appeared: Phi Bete's Carolyn Foust, Ruth Guarnaccia, and Hope Briggs; and "Who's Who" nominees were Mary Orso and Jeanne Thomas . . . A big and little sister roller-skating party was next on the SCC calendar. Then came the winter semi-formal, with snowmen, skis, and Bucknellians all gliding 'round at Tustin Gym . . . Betty Bornmann and Arlene Kirsh wielded the palettes. Another semi-formal marked the spring's activities. Hockey, bowling, basketball, and baseball all saw the SCC teams in action. Helping out over the rough spots this year . . . Prof. Parker and Mrs. Wentzel. A new constitution was drawn up, instituting a separate girls' organization for the club. Also introduced—a point system for the recognition of outstanding members. So ended an active year for SCC!

The Pan-Hellenic Council is the co-ed duplicate of the Inter-Fraternity Council. The word Pan-Hellenic itself means "all Greek"; and so it is. Pan-Hell is a collection of twelve "Greeks": two girls, a junior and senior member, representing each of the six sororities.

This year a plan of deferred rushing which gave the upper-class girls and the freshmen a better chance to "look things over" was introduced. Parties were cut down to three, each function having a limited budget. This meant additional work for the group, for new rushing rules and regulations were in order.

During the remainder of the year the council was busy already planning next year's program and continuing the policy of deferred rushing, but improving the system of the past year. Any problems confronting a sorority were discussed and settled by the council.

This year the presidency, a rotating office, was ably executed by Virginia McCabe of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority. The council is under the supervision of faculty adviser, Miss Eleanor Geil.

October 15 saw us sporting red carnations to celebrate Founder's Day 'way back in 1885 . . . disguised as members of a freak circus, Alpha Chi brought home a first prize from the Sem Hallowe'en party . . . rushing left us with 20 pledges; believe me, we're proud of them . . . at the pledge banquet at the "B", Ditty Parmelee and Jean Williams collected the scholarship awards . . . pledges were greeted by Santa Claus at a party in the suite . . . met him again at the party with the Sigs for the needy kiddies of town . . . the new year started off with a bang . . . pledges were introduced to Bucknell "society" at a dance in Larison . . . graduation accelerated four of our seniors right out into the cruel world . . . and the patroness tea, Hera Day, a drive for the war effort, spring formal, pledge party, initiation, senior picnic, symposium, and graduation wound up another record year for Alpha Chi.

Of course you'll remember that Jinny McCabe, Janet Bold, and Ronny Greene made their mark among "Who's Who." If you want to know the rest of the Gems-of-the-Sem, look for the girls who wear the golden lyres.

A smouldering ash-pile bursts into flame . . . spreading nineteen beautiful sparks into the empty places left by Tau's seniors. A pledge class of which to be proud . . . Action follows; cozies, pledging, pledge banquet, and pledge dance were planned to bring us together as a group . . . Curtailment of social activities because of the war did not leave Tri Delta out of the "lime-light", for we had Norene Bond filling the Editorship of L'AGENDA, Dottie Davis, President of the Women's Athletic Association . . . and proud we are of our three seniors who made "Who's Who among College Students in American Universities": Norene Bond . . . Jeanne Greenig . . . and Treva Poling. Senior Ball brought Tri Delta as well as Bucknell a "Queen", Jeanne Greenig . . . The visit from our gracious District President, Eileen Rudolph, proved to be a profitable as well as an enjoyable experience for all . . . "10 percent for Bonds" . . . Tau did its part through the purchase of four one-hundred dollar bonds . . . Showers, weddings, and the Christmas holidays brought much excitement to the chapter . . . Exams and Mid-year Graduation brought tears to some, but as usual the life of the group continued to be a happy, contented one . . . Intramural sports . . . Faculty Coffee Hour, National Founder's Day, and life with the "Gals" . . . plus the scholastic end of college filled the bill, and made Tau's twenty-ninth year at Bucknell a most successful one.

September and school days again! Rushing was uppermost on our social calendar when campus activities first began to get into full swing. Weekly teas for the freshmen occupied our attention for six weeks, and then came the three rushing parties themselves which were a lot of work but very successful and loads of fun! Highlights of rushing were the "Bunkhouse Brawl" and "Rose Dinner." The results more than repaid us for all our trouble—a super group of pledges. We celebrated the great event with a Pledge Banquet at the Hotel Lewisburger at which both actives and pledges had a wonderful time.

Homecoming saw many of our alumnae returning to the suite, and were we pleased to see them! Then, still in an entertaining mood, we played hostesses to our patronesses at a tea.

Thanksgiving Day rolled around so soon! Our accelerated program meant only the one day for vacation—but it was an enjoyable holiday, no matter how brief.

December 19 was the date of a momentous occasion—on that day we introduced the new D. Z.'s to campus society at a Christmas dance which was gayly decorated with stars, bells, fawns, and the traditional Yuletide Tree.

A whirl of defense, school, and social activities too numerous to mention kept us busy during the second semester. Then came initiation, symposium, and the end of another year for Delta Zeta. A busy year? But definitely!

Wartime Bucknell . . . accelerated classes combined with extra-curricular activities, social life, and rushing, until you would like to tack extra hours on that 24 hour day . . . but it was full steam ahead for Kappa Delta! There was deferred rushing with teas for six solid weeks, but when it was all over, fifteen wonderful pledges joined the ranks of Kappa Delta . . . the pledges gave a Christmas party with the Fiji's for Lewisburg's "younger set" . . . and what's this, another party? . . . this time one was held in the suite for actives with Santa and all the fixin's . . . the eve before the holidays, our "Snowball Formal" presented those super pledges to Bucknell's "400" . . . a big night for all of us! But 1943 had even more in store . . . the pledge banquet in January . . . basketball and softball championships to defend . . . the "Pop-in Parties" to get better acquainted . . . the spring formal . . . the skating party for Big and Little Sisters . . . and cozies in a smoke-filled suite with laughter and songs . . . it's so much fun to be together!

September 28 was a hay day for the "gang"—back together again, close within our bond. Rushing took much of our time, but when our twenty-one grand new pledges joined us later, we knew our parties and teas had been a huge success. Will we ever forget our dance, Club "Top Hatter", when the pledges stepped in with a successful new idea of entertainment for everyone? And what fun we had with the Kappa Sigs when, for the first time, we joined with them at Christmas time in entertaining twenty-five of the "small tots" from down town. And remember, too, our Christmas party in the suite—having a hilarious time exchanging gifts with clever ditties attached, and watching our "little sister's" expressions as they found their stockings hanging from the mantel!

But we had our serious side, too. We took pride in Marilyn Eppley's many honors—Mortar Board, Honor House, C. A., and W. S. G. A. president; in the well-done jobs of our junior counselors, Meg Meston and Kay Marshall; in Nancy Byck's participation in the Cap and Dagger performance at Indiantown Gap; in Elise Miller's work on Senate; in Louise Stead's Sophomore Class presidency; and yes! in our donation to the Red Cross of the squares we all knitted into a blanket to be sent "overseas"! All in all, it's been a "super" year.

Just before the opening of the fall semester, twenty-seven golden arrows, each one representing a different locality, once again pointed to Bucknell. In one's, two's, three's and more they came to the third floor of Hunt Hall where they were reunited for another year of fun, rushing, and work in a spirited suite atmosphere typically Pi Beta Phi.

On convocation day Pi Beta Phi played a double feature part in the program when trophy awards for highest scholarship in sorority competition were presented to our active members, and also to our pledge group of last year.

Hockey season bore its marks on eleven of the Pi Phi's who sported plenty of black and blue marks from game to game. With fighting spirit and grim determination the team frequently eyed the hockey championship plaque in Larison living room, and history almost repeated itself when the freshmen again presented stiff competition. However, there are just dim, dusty lines now in the main freshman dorm where the plaque rested for a season—Pi Phi is dusting it daily in the suite.

Rushing produced its usual headaches and nervous tension, but when the final list of twenty-five prize pledges came through, the preceding weeks of strain and hard work seemed relatively unimportant!

The first chapter dance of the year was immediately following Christmas vacation when twenty-five of the newest wearers of the wine and silver blue were formally introduced.

Election to Phi Beta Kappa signifies a recognition of intellectual capacities well employed, especially in the acquiring of an education in the liberal arts and sciences. Founded December 5, 1776, at the college of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, the society was originally one of congenial spirits, resembling in character a combination of the modern social fraternity and the modern literary club. It was the first "Greek Letter" society. With the passing of time, it tended to become purely an honor society, dropped its former requirements of secrecy, and admitted women to its company.

Students eligible for election are those seniors who are working toward the A.B. or straight B.S. degree and who are in the upper ten per cent of their class. However, the honor is not confined merely to these students. If three-fourths of a senior's work is liberal in character at the time of election, he is also eligible. A very small number of juniors who have done exceptionally outstanding work may also be elected.

The average annual number of elections to alumni membership, except in the earliest years of the new chapters, is only slightly more than one per chapter. Honorary degrees are also conferred, with the chapters now electing severally an average of not more than one honorary member a triennium.

The society publishes quarterly "The American Scholar," a magazine, and "The Key Reporter," a newspaper.

There are now one hundred and forty-one chapters of Phi Beta Kappa and approximately ninety thousand living members.

Torch and Scroll

Along with the host of special honoraries which foster study in various fields, Bucknell has one group, Torch and Scroll, which recognizes qualities of outstanding leadership. Eligibility to membership requires a fairly high scholastic average and outstanding achievement in extra-curricular activities. The society is composed of only twenty members, thirteen of whom are seniors. Officers chosen from among the twenty this year were George Jenkins, President; Dan Reinhardsen, Vice President; and Ronny Greene, Secretary.

This year the war curtailed the activities of Torch and Scroll. The Post-Exam Jubilee and Homecoming Parade, which usually form its two chief projects, have been eliminated for the duration. Nevertheless, occasional meetings were held to keep the organization together, so that in future years it may resume its sponsorship of campus activities.

Mortar Board

Mortar Board is the national leadership society for senior women, and was established at Bucknell in 1941. It has come through its first two years with "flying colors." Being primarily a service organization, this year the girls bought textbooks from the students and sold magazines. It also answered the call of Uncle Sam by registering Bucknell men. To promote scholarship, the girls worked with the Woman's Scholarship Committee and continued their policy of sending congratulatory cards to all women making any of the various scholastic honoraries. Mortar Board volunteered its services to the administration by helping to register the new freshmen. The officers for this year were Janet Bold, President; Mary Orso, Vice President; Jean Haynes Thomas, Treasurer; Norene Bond, Secretary.

Alpha Chi Sigma

Alpha Chi Sigma is the chemistry honorary for men at Bucknell. Its function is to bring out the best in each individual as he probes further into the field of chemistry.

Its meetings are held weekly in the chemistry building, at which times current problems in general chemistry and research are discussed.

The "Bison Chemette", the fraternity's publication, deals with topics of interest in chemical industry.

The local chapter is a collegiate one, but members automatically become affiliated with the professional group on graduation. This professional organization is of great aid to the student, helping him to use his capabilities toward the advancement of chemistry as a science, and as a life work.

Alpha Lambda Delta

The requirement for membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary society for freshman women, is an eighty-five average for the first semester or for the whole year.

Sophomores who attained an eighty-five average their freshman year were pledged and initiated in the fall, while the freshmen who made their marks the first semester were pledged and initiated in the spring.

This season's organization was under the leadership of Elizabeth Miller, President; Helen Grim, Vice President; Nancy Woehling, Secretary; Marjorie Horstman, Treasurer; and Louise Stead, Historian. No regular meetings were held; but when a matter of importance arose, the group was called together by the president. The purpose of this organization is to raise the scholarship standard of the university generally, by recognizing special merit among the freshman women.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers

The purpose of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers Chapter is to advance Chemical Engineering, and to promote a greater interest in the field among the students at Bucknell. At the regular meetings, held twice a month, various programs are planned for the benefit of furthering the interest of the student in the profession. Guest speakers are invited to the meetings to discuss the need for chemical engineers in industry, and to point out the many problems which occur in practical engineering. The aims of the chapter are being fulfilled under the able leadership of Dr. C. S. Keevil, faculty adviser. Through the discussion of topics under student supervision the student often participates in the programs. The only requirement for membership in this organization is enrollment in the course of Chemical Engineering.

American Institute of Electrical Engineers

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers has membership open to all juniors and seniors enrolled in electrical engineering. At its meetings, held bi-monthly, movies and outside speakers are featured, as well as original papers by the members, and open discussions. The Bucknell branch of this society represents one of the leading national professional engineering groups having chapters on campus. The purpose of the organization is to establish a better relationship between the activities of the student and that of the national organization. Chairmanship is now held by Blaine Lewis under the direction of Professor Irland.

American Society of Civil Engineers

The American Society of Civil Engineers is an organization, comprised of all civil engineering students, which affords its members a valuable contact with the professional world. At the meetings, held every several weeks, such features as movies on "The Erection of the Rainbow Bridge" at Niagara Falls and slides on "Aerial Photographic Map-Making" are presented.

The drain on student enrollment due to concentrated military activity has been strongly felt. A. S. C. E. has lost 40% of its junior members, 20% of its sophomores, and 16% of its freshmen. However, the organization looks forward to serving its country in the training of Civil Engineers for the U. S. Navy.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers is a student branch of the professional American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The purpose of the Bucknell student branch is to acquaint the student more thoroughly with this fast changing and ever progressing profession. In order that its members may become more familiar with their aspired profession, guest speakers are invited to the meetings from various manufacturing firms to speak about the many phases of the industry, and to show them developments in the field. Motion pictures are also shown in order to facilitate explanation of various complicated mechanical processes. The membership requirement is only that you be a mechanical engineer. Meetings are held once a month under the supervision of Professor Garman, faculty adviser.

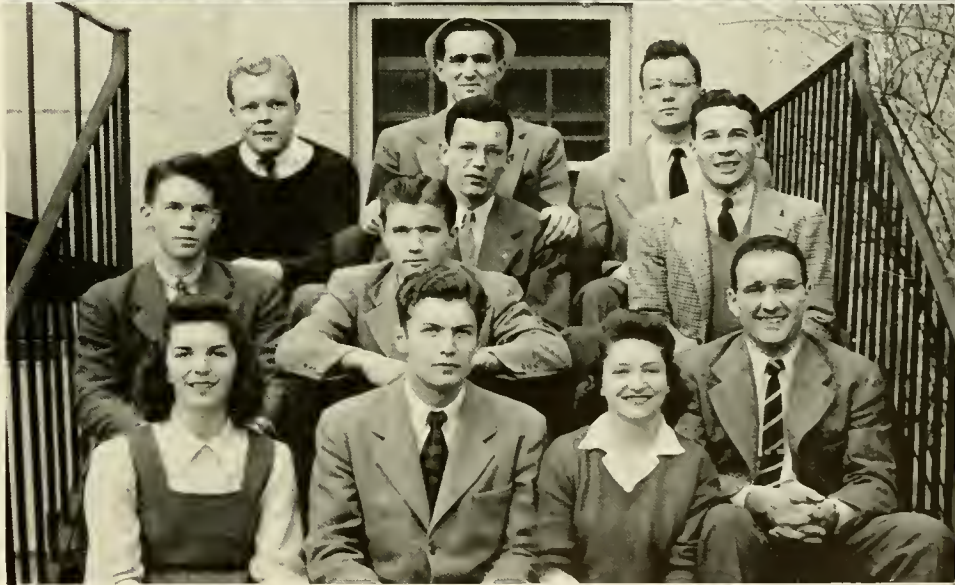

"B" Club

The "B" Club, organized and sponsored by John Plant, Bucknell's able director of physical education, has for several years been the main factor in the co-ordination of varsity sports on campus and in awarding the coveted letters and sweaters to outstanding athletes. Membership is extended to those men who have won varsity letters in athletics. In addition to sponsoring the annual intramural boxing bouts, the club formally put on a varsity show with an all "B" Club cast, but due to the war-time program it was eliminated from this year's calendar. At an annual dance, held each spring, the letter-men select their "B" Club queen. It is through this social program that funds are secured for athletic awards, so highly prized on campus.

Booster Club

The Bucknell Booster Club was organized four years ago for the purpose of backing up University activities and to provide a supporting structure for school spirit. Due to war emergencies, the activities of the organization have been curtailed. However, this year the Boosters did provide reserved seats for all members at the home football games, and sponsored rallies, snake dances, and between-half demonstrations.

Torch and Scroll originally organized the Booster Club which now functions under the direction of an Executive Board composed of twenty members. The Booster Club, although one of the youngest campus organizations, claims one of the largest memberships as over two-thirds of the student body are enrolled as members.

Beta Epsilon Sigma

In reality a "Phi Beta Kappa" for engineers, Beta Epsilon Sigma has a limited membership headed by Art Adamson, '44. Jack Ferriss, '44, is the secretary; Ira Sheffler, '44, the treasurer, and Professors Garman and Griffith are advisers. Its program this year has consisted of monthly meetings at which technical papers were presented, and its initiation banquet. Only the highest ranking sophomore engineer here and at Jr. College, the upper eighth of the Junior class, and the upper fifth of the Senior Class are eligible for membership. Initiation took place in April this year.

Delta Mu Delta

Delta Mu Delta is the national honorary economics fraternity which tends to create a higher standard of scholasticism in economics and more interest in the economic field. Any Bucknellian taking the Commerce and Finance course and acquiring 150 quality credits during the first five semesters is eligible for membership.

Initiation is held each spring at the annual banquet. Every year the members also take a field trip, visiting some place of interest to the economics students. Delta Mu Delta enjoys a friendly relationship with the faculty of the C. and F. department as all of the latter are members of the fraternity.

Delta Phi Alpha

The Phi chapter of Delta Phi Alpha, national German fraternity, was established at Bucknell in 1932. The purpose of the fraternity is to recognize excellence in German, and, most significant in this day of dictators, to keep alive the old culture and literature of the German people. Highlights of the year's activities included a pledging ceremony; an initiation banquet, with Dr. Karl Sheerer as guest speaker; a Christmas party, featuring German customs and carols; and an original play in German presented by Ralph Weinmann, '46, a Czech national, newly enrolled at Bucknell. Parliamentary procedure carried on in German was a recent innovation. The officers were Chuck Strange, Sally Zoerb, Meg Meston, and Fay Myers, with Dr. Frantz acting as faculty adviser.

Kappa Delta Epsilon

Kappa Delta Epsilon, women's honorary education fraternity, recognizes outstanding education students for the purpose of stimulating further interest and accomplishment in this field. Among its activities this year were monthly meetings at which war time educational problems were discussed, participation in the National Convention at Philadelphia, and two supper meetings. Upper class women are eligible for membership when they complete two education courses and attain a general scholastic average of eighty. Miss Martica Georg sponsored this year's group, while Marian Hack, Jane Nagro, and Betty Baush served as officers.

Kappa Phi Kappa

Kappa Phi Kappa, men's honorary education fraternity, includes as members only outstanding education students for the purpose of stimulating greater interest in the educational field among the general public and promoting accomplishment in this field among students. The Bucknell Alpha Xi Chapter is just a part of the large national organization. It boasts over three hundred members in all parts of the country. Among the outstanding events this year was a special visit by the President of the National Organization, R. R. Strebel, Head of the Department of Education at Syracuse University. Dr. Sauvain is this fraternity's faculty adviser. This year has proved to be a very successful one for the group.

Mu Phi Epsilon

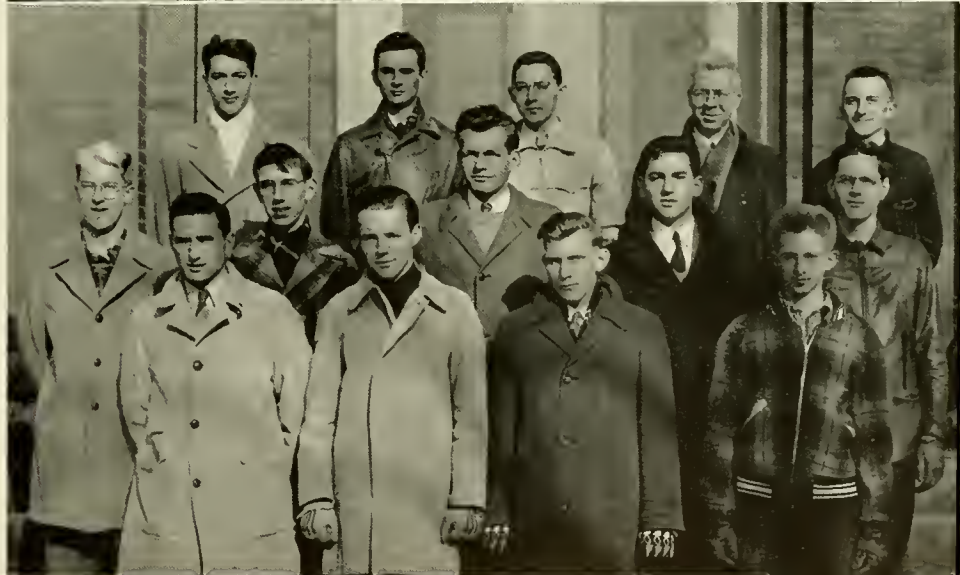

Psi chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, the women's national music honorary, was established on campus in 1916. The fraternity was organized to promote scholarship, friendship, and love of music among the women students. This year the chapter specialized in the study of the development of various musical forms. The members of the society did research work and gave reports on these forms, supplementing them by playing illustrative compositions. The lives of composers were also studied, special attention given to their use and interpretation of musical forms. These reports were followed by informal discussions. This past summer the president of the society, Carolyn Foust, represented the organization at the national convention in Colorado.

Phi Alpha Theta

Phi Alpha Theta, the national history fraternity, is open to all Bucknellians who have completed twelve hours in the field of history and who have maintained an average of 85. Among the activities this year have been regular monthly meetings, at which photostatic copies of historical documents were discussed, the members learned to use microfilms, and letters dating from the beginning of the nineteenth century were studied. In order to encourage scholarship and historical research, Phi Alpha Theta sponsored a contest open to all students. A prize of ten dollars was awarded for the best paper. Marion Waters, John Weaver, Betty Jackson, and Mary Beidler served as officers. Dr. Karraker acted as adviser of the group.

Phi Eta Sigma

An average grade of 85, attained either semester of the freshman year, is the requirement for admission to Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary fraternity for freshman men. This organization, since its establishment at Bucknell in May 1938, has not only provided incoming students with a goal towards which to strive, but also has presented study helps and various suggestions in an effort to bring about a smoother adjustment to college life itself. In the furtherance of this aim to counsel freshmen, the group, advised by Professor Bruce Miller, holds a joint annual meeting with Alpha Lambda Delta, sister fraternity. Burr Williamson was president this year. Other officers included Alfred Zeigler, Robert Check, and Jim Shipe.

Phi Sigma

The object of Phi Sigma is to promote research among students in the field of Biology. Because of the accelerated program modified entrance requirements have been instituted. These are: the completion of ten hours in Biology with a "B" average, registration for five more hours, and the presentation of a research paper carried out under the guidance of a faculty adviser. If the student graduates before his paper is completed, he may return to present it.

Throughout the year speakers presented topics pertinent to present problems in the field of Biology.

The chapter was greatly enlarged during the past year because of the increased number of students preparing for medicine.

Pi Delta Epsilon

Pi Delta Epsilon is the national honorary publications fraternity. Its three requirements for membership are: major editorship of one of the three campus publications, a minimum of two years good work on one or more of them, and a scholastic average of "B". The fraternity works for better co-operation among the "Bucknellian," the Student Handbook, and the L'AGENDA, in order to foster general improvement in Bucknell journalism.

The Bucknell chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon was established in 1924. Its major activities of this year were the forums, open to both faculty and students, at which times the three publications were criticized, and initiation dinners held at the Lewisburg Inn.

Pi Mu Epsilon

Pi Mu Epsilon, national mathematics fraternity, was founded at Syracuse University in 1914, and came to Bucknell in 1925. Its purpose is to encourage scholarship, especially in the field of mathematics.

Meetings are held monthly and the members, mathematicians, engineers, and statisticians, discuss formulae and theories of interest to the three groups.

The initiation banquet is held in the fall and is supplemented by a purely social meeting—a picnic—in the spring.

The requirements for membership include: junior status, general scholastic average of "B," together with outstanding accomplishments in mathematics.

Sigma Alpha Kappa

Sigma Alpha Kappa, more commonly referred to as the "Sons of the American Kitchen," is an organization of men students who earn their board by working in the kitchens and dining-rooms of our university dining halls. It is a social as well as an honorary fraternity, designed for the purpose of promoting service, co-operation and fellowship among the members.

It was founded on the Bucknell campus in 1928 by Thomas Clay and two men students who sensed the mutual interests of working students. Since that time Sigma Alpha Kappa has grown steadily during the fifteen years of its existence.

Due to the war, the "Kitchen Brawl," an annual dance of the "S. A. K.'s", was a "vic" dance. It was a great success, however, and Betty Whipple was crowned "Queen of the Kitchen." The "Kitchen Brawl" featured original entertainment composed and presented by members of "S. A. K." The annual banquet was also held with a grand steak dinner for all the members. These two events were the highlights of the group's activities.

Sigma Tau Delta

To encourage and foster the appreciation of good literature and poetry, and to develop the art of composition in general of both exposition and narration is the purpose of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity. To be eligible for this society, one must be an English major and maintain "dean's list" work in English. At their monthly meetings, the members participate in various activities with the idea in mind of doing something creative in the way of English literature. Not only is fellowship developed among the English majors, but they combine their thoughts in a discussion of literature and composition as well, which leads to a deeper appreciation of English. The fraternity magazine, "Rectangle," embodies the spirit and purpose of Sigma Tau Delta.

Sigma Delta Pi

From the Spanish Club of former years, a new honorary has emerged—Sigma Delta Pi. On January 15, 1943, a charter was granted for the Bucknell chapter, Alpha Upsilon, of this national fraternity. A month later the installation and first initiations took place. President Manuel Barrett and Secretary Hope Briggs are among the eight charter members, while Professors Nimkoff and Davis are honorary members.

Sigma Delta Pi encourages the study of the Spanish language and culture. Any student is eligible who has completed the equivalent of five semesters of Spanish, during which time he has maintained a scholastic average of B. Since 1919 the organization has expanded to include over 40 chapters, but the one at Bucknell is the first in Pennsylvania.

Theta Alpha Phi

The persisting objective of Theta Alpha Phi is to promote and advance dramatic activity on the Bucknell campus. Aside from its chief function of recognizing achievement in the field of dramatics by invitation to membership, the fraternity serves in the capacity of adviser to Cap and Dagger, from whose ranks the members of the society are chosen. Another responsibility of Theta Alpha Phi is the selection of the plays, directors, and production managers for the current dramatic season. The "castle in the air" of all members of Theta Alpha Phi is a Little Theater, for their own use, on the campus; the group sponsors a fund to aid the University in the ultimate realizing of this desire. The officers this year were Bob Scharmann, Stan Marshall, and Shirley Higgins.

Tau Kappa Alpha

Although its membership and activities were curtailed this year because of the war, Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary forensic fraternity headed by James P. Whyte, '43, debated the question, Resolved: "That the united nations should establish a permanent Federal Union with the power to tax and regulate commerce, to establish a police force to enforce the rulings thereof, and provide for the admission of other nations." Because there was no intercollegiate activity, this same issue was the topic for the Intramural Debate Contest.

An exclusive crew, Tau Kappa Alpha boasts only six active members. Besides President "Scotty" White and Secretary-Treasurer "Mimi" Pueschel, '43, there are William Manko, '43, Cullen Shipman, '43, John Waroblak, '44, and Ben Wasserman, '44.

BUS BLUM

Pile-Up on the Thirty-five

Despite the loss of a number of stalwart veterans to Uncle Sam's fighting forces, Coach Al Humphreys and his aides, Bus Blum and Johnny Sitarsky, developed the greatest Bucknell football team since he assumed the reins as head coach, six years ago. The Bisons of 1942 were one of the best teams of Bucknell football history because of their universal attack and their great defensive play. This team had both a powerful running attack and deadly aerial attack. Whenever they could not go through an opponent, they went over him. Although many of the teams they encountered had much heavier forward walls, the Bisons possessed a fighting spirit which gave their defense the power it needed.

Captain William Anderson led his team through a nine game schedule, winning six, tying one, and losing two games. The Bisons opened their season against Lebanon Valley on September 26 at home. Although the Bisons didn't show a scoring punch, they managed to defeat the "Flying Dutchmen," at 7 to 0. The following week the Bisons entrained for State College where they played Penn State Nittany Lions. Bucknell got off to a fast start, scoring in the first period, but State came back to defeat B. U., 14 to 7. Even though the Bisons outplayed State, the breaks went against the Orange and Blue. On October 9, the Bisons met Temple University's football team under the arc lights of Temple Stadium, Philadelphia. A fighting Bison eleven held a powerful Owl eleven to 7 points in the first three quarters. Mid-way in the final quarter the Bison offense began to move, and with five minutes to play left the Bisons tied, the score at 7 to 7. The Bisons, we might say finished the first half of their season against Rutgers because this was their last defeat of the season. Against the Scarlet team, the Bisons took an early lead, only to see a spirited Rutgers eleven come back in the second half and score a touchdown and safety to defeat them, 9 to 7.

In becoming the first team in Bucknell grid history to win their last five games in succession, the Bisons opened this string of victories against Boston University in the Hub-city. This game was all Bucknell as they won 13 to 7. The following week the Bisons surprised everybody but themselves when they defeated the Lafayette Leopards in the annual Homecoming Day tilt on the Memorial Stadium gridiron, by the score of 13 to 7. Playing their last home game of the season, the Bisons defeated the Gettysburg Bullets, 7 to 6, in one of the most unusual games of the season. All of the scoring came in 60 seconds of the game, G-burg scoring on the opening the second half and B. U. scored on the first play from scrimmage after G-burg kicked-off to the Bisons. Bucknell's fourth consecutive victim was the Case Institute eleven of Cleveland, Ohio. The Bisons had no trouble in registering a 21 to 6 victory over their foe. The Bisons rang down the curtain on their 1942 season by defeating the Franklin and Marshall Diplomats, 27 to 0, at Lancaster, Pa. The four touchdowns were scored by Bucknell's ends, three on passes and the fourth on a fumble in the end zone.

An important highlight of the past season was that freshmen were allowed to compete in varsity sports for the first time in Bucknell's 58 years of grid history. Outstanding for the Bisons this season were Walt Szot and Gene Matthews, who were chosen by the squad as co-captains for the 1943 season.

Yes! Bucknell can be rightfully proud of her 1942 football squad and her coaching staff who did such a great job in producing this outstanding team.

Freshman Football

Because of the rule introduced at Bucknell this year allowing freshmen to participate in varsity sports, Coach Johnny Sitarsky lost a number of prospective freshmen football players to the varsity squad. Such players as Felix Siezega, Johnny Paar, Bob Hammarberg, and Wilbur Forsythe all proved their worth to varsity mentor, Al Humphreys. Other freshmen on the varsity squad were Ralph Grant, Francis Carroll, and John Mudd.

The "Baby Bisons" only played two games this season, with the West Point Plebes and Wyoming Seminary. Other games with the Penn State Frosh and Scranton-Keystone Junior College were postponed. On October 21, the Bison yearlings played the Army Plebes at West Point. Although they battled valiantly, the Bisons were turned back by the Plebes, by the score, 25 to 6. Warren Elze, Bison full-back, registered the lone Bucknell score.

Their second and last game was played with Wyoming Seminary at Kingston, Penna., on November 14. The Bisons held the Wyoming eleven scoreless during the first half. The Seminary lads, however, came back in the last two quarters to score 13 points to defeat the "Baby Bisons," 13 to 0. Among the outstanding members of the Bison yearlings were Johnny Stultz, Charley Schleckser, Sherm Doebler, Warren Elze, Craig Linton, Eddie Dexter, Bob McGowan, Paul Schmidt, Don Seiler, and Bill Cober.

When Coach Mal Musser issued his first call for varsity basketball, the future for the 1942-43 season appeared rather bright, but Uncle Sam and graduation made a radical change in the Bison prospects. Before the actual campaign got under way, Musser left Bucknell to enter the U. S. Navy. Johnny Sitarsky, able freshman mentor in the past, took charge of the Bisons, and George Haines, outstanding forward of last season was on hand to lead the Bisons as captain.

The Bisons opened their season against Elizabethtown College, defeating them, 57 to 24. But in their next three engagements the Bisons were overcome by Penn State, 36 to 22, Muhlenberg, 44 to 43, and Lafayette, 36 to 25. The Sitarskymen came back to take the next four contests from Muhlenberg, 46 to 41, Susquehanna, 39 to 25, Lebanon Valley, 44 to 37, and Juniata, 45 to 30.

But now the Bisons ran head-on into trouble. After the Lebanon Valley victory, Captain George Haines and Ken Baserman graduated. Joe Culbertson succeeded Haines as captain. After their victory over Juniata, the Bisons lost to Albright, 55 to 37, and to Lebanon Valley, 44 to 43, in a close struggle. Once again the fate of the Bisons was decided as Morty Silberman, Bobby Keegan, and Bob Edmunds were called to duty in the Army Air Corps.

All during the 1942-43 season, freshmen out for the squad had composed a second team, but now Coach Sitarsky had to call on some of these men to fill his ranks. With the remaining squad composed of Culbertson, Hank Fornwald, Frank Burns, Jerry Meltzer, Don Hamre, Ralph Downes, Jim Comerford, Dale Armstrong, and Stan Schilder, the Bisons were turned back by Albright, 43 to 37, Gettysburg 57 to 36, and finally again by the Gettysburg Bullets in a 34 to 32 thriller.

Soccer

Playing the toughest schedule faced by any of the teams participating in intercollegiate sports here at Bucknell, Merle Edwards' soccermen won one, tied one and lost five games in their 1942 season.

The Bisons first game was with the Penn State Nittany Lion booters at State College on Oct. 4. State defeated the Bisons 3 to 1. A week later the B. U. booters and the Western Maryland Terriers fought to a 0 to 0 deadlock on the Bucknell soccer field. On October 21, the Bisons went up the Hudson River to try to outboot the Army soccer team, but the West Point lads defeated the Bisons, 2 to 0. The Bisons then returned home to win their only game of the season from Elizabethtown College's booters by the score 2 to 0. On Homecoming Day, the Bisons tangled with the Temple Owl soccer men on the Bucknell field only to be defeated, 7 to 0.

Following the Temple game, the Bisons lost a close contest to the Syracuse University soccer men by the score, 3 to 2. The Bucknell booters brought their season to a close by going down to defeat at the hands of a crack Navy soccer team by the score of 2 to 1, in a contest played at Annapolis. Captain Danny Reinhardsen, Scotty Whyte, and Chick Eldridge played their last games for the Orange and Blue. Just what Uncle Sam will do to the underclassmen is still uncertain.

Leafing back through the records, a slightly better than average baseball season unfolds with a record of 7 and 4 in the won and lost columns. After dropping the season opener to Juniata, the diamondmen came up with four decisions against Pitt 8-6; Dickinson 11-7, and Susquehanna 15-6 and 10-0. The next Bison victory was at the expense of Temple, after a three game slump had given the Dickinson, Pitt, and Elizabethtown aggregates victories over the Sitarskymen. The following game proved to be the climax of the season when an aggressive Bison team trimmed State 3-2. A stinging triple from the bat of Fred Drexler, and the continued consistency of Bob Keegan's slugging combined with Bill Brader's portside flinging to outscore the Nittany Lions. The closing game saw the Bison walk away 7-4 from a Muhlenberg team.

Mainstays of Coach Sitarsky's nine were Captain Will Ronk; First Baseman Paul Burke, and Clean-up-hitter Bob Keegan. Moundmen who carried the brunt of the pitching assignments were Phil Stamm and Southpaw Bill Brader.

Coach Floyd Ballentine's Bison racket-wielders saw penned in Bucknell net files one of the most successful seasonal records in Bucknell tennis history. Losing only once through the season the netmen breezed through a nine game card to end up the season with 889 average.

Piloted by Captain Bill Carson the Bison trampled such highly touted net squads as Colgate, 6-3; Lehigh, 5-4, and Penn State, 5-4. Infuriated after a 6-3 setback at the hands of Muhlenberg, which might have very well been a different story if Bill Carson did not have to forfeit two matches because he irritated an old back injury. The Bisons plowed on to register 9-0 decisions over Susquehanna and Lebanon Valley and 8-1 wins over Gettysburg and Juniata.

Beside Bill Carson, the Orange and Blue was led by George "Moe" MacCall, holder of the Middle Atlantic Singles Crown; Fred Griffin, in the number 2 slot, and red-headed Joe Culbertson. MacCall breezed through the season unbeaten, while Fred Griffin dropped but one match. Veterans for the coming campaign will be few, with hope hinging chiefly on Culbertson and Finkelstein.

Although feeling the loss of Bill Johnson, Wilbur Bloete, and Ross Jackman, the linksmen definitely did not open the season by feeling their way along. Smothering Rutgers, Lafayette, and Rider, the Orange and Blue clubmen rode high on the crest of a victory wave. A taste of defeat, however, was administered to the Bucknell golfers when they faltered against a mighty Penn State squad, reputedly one of the best college teams in the East. Humbling Baltimore 4-2, the tee-men seemed again to have hit their stride, but the streak was short-lived as a strong Lehigh team drove home a 6½-2½ victory. An 8-1 win over Western Maryland was sandwiched in between the season finale, the gist of which was a 6-3 defeat by Cornell golfers.

Highlighting the season was the placing of Bucknell second in a field of seven in the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Team Championship.

Captain Bill Ramage, "Chick" Johnston, and John Britton occupied the key positions during the season. Ramage, with his consistent golfing, seemed the Bison backbone. Hermie Fritz, Charlie Brogan, and Al Alexander filled out Coach Harold Evan's squad.

Bucknell's 1942 track squad won two, and lost one, of the three dual meets in which the trackmen participated. Members of the Bison squad also entered in the Middle Atlantic track meet held at Haverford, and in the Penn Relays held at Philadelphia.

In their first two meets the Bisons defeated Franklin and Marshall $69\frac{3}{4}$ to $56\frac{1}{4}$, and Susquehanna, 100 to 25. The Bucknell mile relay team composed of Ted Roselle, Dan Brimmer, Bob Shaffer, and Bob Whitlock entered in the Middle Atlantic Mile Relay Championship of the Penn Relays. By running the mile in 3:24 minutes, the relay team finished fourth in this event.

In the Middle Atlantic track meet Sophomore Bill Schnure set a new meet record in the 120-yard high hurdles with a record time of 15.2 seconds. Schnure also placed third in the 220-yard low hurdles, and Gus Cadwallader gained a tie for second in the pole vault. In a field of eighteen qualifying teams, the Bisons finished sixth.

Coach John Plant's squad brought their season to a close by losing to Temple's trackmen, by the score, 69 to 57. Both graduation and Uncle Sam have hit the Bucknell squad rather hard. With the gasoline and tire problem also acute, it is doubtful whether a varsity track schedule will be completed for 1943.

Intramural Sports

Intramural athletics at Bucknell University exist, not only for the purpose of giving all students an opportunity to receive sports education, to give men the chance to gain some valuable experience in managing groups and individuals and in officiating games, but to give them an opportunity to participate in a purposeful, well organized sports program.

Realizing that sports and athletics are no longer the privilege of a few but the rightful heritage of every student, we are attempting to give all students a chance to express themselves through play and athletics.

We desire, also, to help students develop a preference for wholesome physical activity and to aid in forming desirable social and moral standards.

INTRAMURAL

Bucknell's athletic program has gone to war. With transportation and other difficulties limiting Bucknell's participation in inter-collegiate sports, the intramural sports program, under the direction of John Plant and the Intramural Council, has become more important than ever on the B. U. campus.

Last spring the Sigma Chis took the Pangburn All-Year Trophy and the Class of 1935 All-Year Championship Trophy as a result of garnering a first place in boxing, cross-country run, and volleyball, and a second place in basketball, and baseball. By winning the Pangburn All-Year Trophy the Sigs gained their second leg on it. Kappa Sigma has four legs and Lambda Chi Alpha has one leg on it, too. The first organization to gain five legs on the trophy may have permanent possession of it. Trailing the Sigs last year, who rolled up 356 1/3 points, was Kappa Sigma with 305 points.

Last fall the program began with the track and field meet and soccer sharing honors. By scoring 44 points, the Phi Psis took the track and field meet, their closest rivals being S. A. E. with 33 points. Winners of the various events were as follows: 100 yard dash, Bullock, S. A. E.; 220 yard run, Baker, P. G. D.; 440 yard run, Symes, S. C. C.; 880 yard run, White, K. S.; Mile run, Lenchuk, S. A. E.; two mile run, Finger, S. A. E.; 120 yard high hurdles, Northrup, S. A. E.; 220 yard low hurdles, Northrup, S. A. E.; Pole vault, Whitford, K. S.; High jump, Burns, P. K. P.; Shotput, Melenyzer, P. K. P.; Discus, Whitford, K. S.; Broadjump, Bullock, S. A. E., and Javelin, Burns, P. K. P.

The Big Red of Kappa Sigma won the Soccer laurels defeating the Sigma Chis, 2 to 0 and 2 to 1, in the finals. Of the four goals scored by Kappa Sigma in the finals, Craig Linton, freshman, scored three of them while Jack Huse made the only score for the Sigs. The Sigs defeated the Lambda Chis, 2 to 0, and the Kappa Sigs defeated the Phi Gams, 3 to 0, in the semi-finals.

Sigma Chi Jim Ham set a new Cross-Country mark when he finished the course in 21:25.4. Ham finished almost 200 yards ahead of George Haines, last year's winner who placed second this year. By taking first, second, sixth and eleventh places the Sigs took the crown followed by Lambda Chi and Phi Gamma Delta.

SPORTS 1942-43

Lambda Chi Alpha's hard hitting mittmen took the boxing trophy as a result of two champions and two other finalists. Don Nesselbush copped the 155 pound title, and freshman, Bobbie Kling, brushed aside all competition to take the 120 pound crown. The winners in the various classes were: 120 lb., Kling, L. C. A.; 127 lb., Drout, K. D. R., 135 lb., Shields, D. S.; 145 lb., Keenan, K. S.; 155 lb., Nesselbush, L. C. A.; 165 lb., Burns, S. A. E.; 175 lb., Dawson, S. X., and Heavyweight, Matthews, P. G. D.

In a thrilling three game finals the Big Red gained their second crown of the year by defeating the S. A. E.'s for the basketball championship. The Big Red took the first game, 28 to 23, but the S. A. E.'s came roaring back to take the second game, 33 to 19. In the final game, with but 50 seconds of play left in the game, and the S. A. E.'s leading 20 to 19, Jim Zingg made a field goal to give the Kappa Sigs a 21 to 20 victory and the championship. In the semi-finals the Kappa Sigs defeated the Phi Psis, and the S. A. E.'s beat the Sigma Chis.

After the Phi Psis and Lambda Chis each won a game in the finals of the volleyball championship, the Phi Psis came from behind in the third game to defeat the Lambda Chis, 15 to 13. L. C. A. won the first game, 15 to 9, and the Phi Psis won the second game, 15 to 7. In the semi-finals, the Phi Psis defeated the Kappa Sigs, and the Lambda Chis defeated the Sammies. The Kappa Sigs strengthened their grip on first place in the race for the trophy this year by taking the wrestling crown, followed by the S. A. E.'s and the Lambda Chis. Champions were: 121 lb., Kaltrieder, L. C. A.; 128 lb., Lou Haug, P. K. P.; 135 lb., Anderson, P. G. D.; 145 lb., Whitford, K. S.; 155 lb., Strickland, K. S.; 165 lb., White-lock, K. S.; 175 lb., Whitton, S. A. E., and Heavyweight, Farley, S. X.

One more sport, softball, remains on the Intramural Program for 1942-43, Softball will determine who will get the Pangburn All-Year Trophy. The Kappa Sigs are leading with the Lambda Chis and Phi Psis in second and third places, respectively. Should Kappa Sigma win, they will gain possession of the trophy. L. C. A. and the Phi Psis are not too far behind and providing that either one has a successful softball season, they can take the crown from the Big Red.

Women's Sports

In the brisk October air with the clashing and banging of hockey sticks, the 1942-43 women's sports program swings into action. With Bucknell co-eds fighting with a regular "do or die" spirit, inter-sorority hits a mighty crescendo, and the Pi Phi's emerge with the hockey championship team.

Come November and December, and the bowling tournament is well under way. The Tri-Delts succeed here in rolling down a victory.

Second semester slides around before we know it, and we find ourselves crowding into Tustin gym to watch, if not to battle on the court, the basketball competition. Seven evenly matched teams fight it out to endeavor to claim the laurels from the K.D.'s, the 1942 defending champs.

And then after basketball season, spring fever usually hits us . . . we go in for less strenuous sports like archery, golf, and badminton, but in spite of the rising mercury and the warm sunny afternoons, we wind up the year with a bang with tennis tournaments and volleyball games, not to mention the day when Bucknell's fairer sex snatch bats, balls, and gloves and head over to Loomis field to try their hand at the good old-fashioned game of softball.

Books, studies, war-time program or not, we can always find time for sports . . . "we have 'em!"

L'AGENDA STAFF

In spite of the fact that they were confronted with a limited budget, Norene Bond, our capable editor, and Paul Winter, business manager, seem to have made every penny count—and then some—and have presented a wartime L'AGENDA that represents the Bucknell of today.

We've all seen Bill Thomas, the L'AGENDA photographer, faithfully snapping pictures at all of our activities. Perhaps it had its compensations, though. Who else from the Men's College was allowed in the sorority suites to witness their rushing parties?

The pictures had been taken, Ronny Greene's senior section was completed, Ruth Chamberlin had arranged the sororities and fraternities, and Jean Smith had seen to it that the faculty and administration were not neglected.

While Dottie Heller supervised the office force, the athletic section that Jim Kennedy began was capably completed by Steve O'Neill after Jim had joined the service; and Kitty Stevenson arranged the calendar, the beauty section, and the Hall of Fame.

Then came Isabelle Kent and Emmy Lou Craig's copy, and we all breathed a sigh of relief, for we had made our deadline. We have finished our 1943 L'AGENDA. It's a bit new, but we hope you'll like it.

Time—September, 1942

Place—The “Bucknellian” office on South Fifth Street, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania.

“Morty, will you give this the final O.K.?”

“Is this headline all right, Bert?”

“Are these bills taken care of, Joe?”

These and a dozen other questions are typical of those voiced in the “Bucknellian” office during the first semester of the year, as the male element held sway over a subordinate staff of women.

Each week news, copy and advertisements were in by Monday, and by Wednesday afternoon the News, Social and Sports pages were all made up by their respective editors. Wednesday night final last-minute additions or corrections were made, and Thursday morning the presses rolled out another 2,200 copies of the "Bucknellian," for distribution on Thursday night.

Under the leadership of Morty Silberman as editor, the "Bucknellian" was off to a rolling start. Bert Waters as Managing Editor made up the dummies and heads which earned for the "Bucknellian" a special merit award last Spring in a national contest. News editor Bob Kriz assembled all copy turned in by Professor Streeter's Journalism classes, while Business Manager Joe Heuer took care of the bills, and Circulation Manager "Nip" Edmunds saw to it that copies of the "Bucknellian" were distributed to fraternity houses, the Sem and Bucknellians already in the service of our country.

Now, however, the scene has changed, and will keep changing until the war is over. Morty Silberman, having served the "Bucknellian" faithfully, first as a sports editor, and then as Editor-in-Chief, has left to take his place fighting for Uncle Sam in the Army Air Corps. "Nip" Edmunds and Joe Heuer, too, have left for the armed services. News Editor Bert Waters, will soon leave for the Army. Is the "Bucknellian" doomed to an obscure expiration? "No!" chorus a group of feminine voices, led by Audrey Bishop, new Managing Editor. Women are capable of and will take over the "Bucknellian," replacing the fellows who must leave. Here as in other phases of life, are increasing opportunities for women because of the exigencies of the war situation. Here is one more place where women will carry on as Americans and Bucknellians.

The Bucknell University Band is an all-student organization which has attempted to carry on its traditional activities this year in spite of the new limitations placed upon it by the war effort. Since the group desired to meet the request of the university by foregoing unnecessary activities, they sacrificed the usual off-campus programs and tours. Because of the accelerated program the band was unable to put on its Spring twilight concerts.

Last Fall, however, through thick and thin, in rain or shine, the band was always present at the Saturday football games to lend spirit and help cheer the team on to victory. No game would be complete without the stirring marches, clever letter formations, and colorful spectacles of the band in action. As of last year, the band featured the girls' eight piece drum corps, and the color guard of four girls and two boys.

With so many of its men being called into service, the group faces a new problem, and its vacated ranks must be filled. There is a great demand for girls, and the band welcomes these new members.

The students of this organization are not just a marching band, for the end of the football season marks the beginning of the Bucknell Concert Band which rehearses constantly throughout the winter months. The combined efforts of Director Charles Stickney, faculty manager William McRae, and student manager Joseph O'Brien will continue as long as possible to help Bucknell's band maintain the high position it now has.

Men's Glee Club

The war has affected practically all the organizations on campus this past year, and the Men's Glee Club was no exception in experiencing loss of members and a cut in activities. This meant eliminating the traditional concert tour from the program. These two factors failed to alter its reputation as the pride of Bucknell, for when fifty-three fellows left for the service, the remaining thirty-eight members sustained their same interest and enthusiasm. This spirit scored success upon success, convincing anyone who was doubtful that the Club could maintain its former ability to thrill audiences that the same standards of musical quality could be maintained under difficult conditions. Probably the skeptics anticipated an inferior Glee Club compared with previous years, because the members wouldn't have the same incentive to work with the tour cancelled. The boys proved to their director, D. Melvin LeMon, and to others, who imagined that the trip was the only attraction in belonging to the Club, that they were genuinely interested in working for the joy of singing. There were more rehearsals, and the attendance records revealed the keen desire of the pre-medical students, the engineers, and the liberal artists to relax from their accelerated work with a song.

The type of engagements and activities was parallel to former schedules, but the number decreased from forty-five to fifteen concerts. The two valuable projects that the Glee Club brought to the campus this year were the Rochester Civic Orchestra, the best small symphony in the country, in December, and the spring concert at the Baptist Church in March. The former was an unusual opportunity for students, who heard selections of the orchestra, and four numbers with the Glee Club and orchestral accompaniment. The group sang "Alleluia: Amen," "Cherubic Hymn," "Ave Maria," and "Shadow March." The home concert featured a fraternity medley, a Bucknell medley, and several patriotic songs. Maurice Shaw, baritone, Warren Dunning, tenor, and Ray Tyler were soloists on the program.

Among many appearances that the Club made on campus and vicinity were chapel programs, broadcasts, two bond sale benefits in

Practicing a new number

Working out a new arrangement

Northumberland and Lewisburg, concerts at the penitentiary, Teachers' Convention at the Davis Gym in October, and at the Eastern Star Convention of eight hundred women in November. These audiences heard fifteen new numbers added this year to the repitoire, while special arrangements of patriotic numbers were sung such as: "This Is My Country," "Pledge to the Flag," "The Marine Hymn," "God Bless America," and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Each year awards are made to members who have been active for three and for four years—keys are presented to three-year men and chains to four-year men. At the spring concert Bill Wright, manager, awarded sixteen keys, and four chains to Russell McQuay, Kenneth Kressler, George Hain, and Volney Frankel. Ronnie Herbst, the accompanist and piano soloist for two years, was called into war service in February.

No one knows what an uncertain future will bring to the Men's Glee Club, but if this year has been a test of its stability, the latest chapter in its history of fame provides sufficient evidence to guarantee future successes if the organization remains active.

We cannot always determine the quality of something by its appearance, and so the values of Bucknell's School of Music cannot be estimated from the physical structure of the building itself, nor from the impression one receives in entering the School—an insane combination of trilling sopranos, organ crescendos, the faint strains of a violin almost drowned out by a symphony recording in the library, the tones of ivory going up the scales, and other vocal soloists practicing their "ah's." Yet, all these sounds are created by Bucknellians who have the desire in common to enjoy music for music's sake, and to give Bucknell something of musical culture. These two motives are the values in the School of Music, worthless as it appears to the eye.

After a life of approximately thirty years, the Mixed Chorus is still as vital as ever on the Bucknell campus as an agent dedicated to the interpretation of musical masterpieces. Dr. Paul G. Stolz, director of the group and head of the University's department of music says: "the group endeavors to give men and women the opportunity to work with the best musical literature, in music designed for mixed voices. The vocal work done in the mixed chorus parallels the orchestral work found in a symphony."

The present Bucknell Symphony Orchestra was founded in 1939 by Professor Charles F.

Stickney at the request of the administration. The purpose of the organization is to offer to the instrumentalists of the Bucknell Campus an opportunity to increase their knowledge of orchestral music and gain enjoyment from playing together. The group has combined with the Mixed Chorus to furnish the orchestral accompaniment foremost of the major Oratorios presented in the past four years. The annual Spring Concerts of the Orchestra have brought enjoyment to the music-lovers among Bucknell students and faculty, and have been attended by interested townspeople from the entire surrounding communities.

Two special musical organizations for Bucknell co-eds are the Freshman Women's Glee Club and the Varsity Women's Glee Club, which are under the direction of Miss Grace Jenkins. A Sacred Chorus is composed of members from these groups—it presents anthems at the Baptist Church Sunday mornings.

It is hard to imagine a world without music; insignificant as it may seem, Bucknell's school of Music is indispensable in contributing a world of music for the campus.

Continuing its activities despite the accelerated war schedule, Cap and Dagger successfully produced three plays, a review for a near by army camp, and elected Jeanne Lever its first female president.

The season began with the presentation of George Barnard Shaw's Pygmalion, directed by Chris O'Malley. Outstanding in it were Jinx's cockney, "ah-ah-ah-ow-ow-oo-oo!"—Sharmmy's shoe-black-toupee—the church pillar that would not stay in line—Big Ben, noticeable by its absense (paging Mr. Roos)—and climaxed by the forum, "The flowers were the same six months later!"

Shortly before Christmas a group consisting of singers, hoofers, ballerinas, and magicians journeyed to Indiantown Gap to entertain the soldiers. Our sponsor, the American Red Cross, provided transportation, dinner (a welcomed change from the Sem), and a dance later in the evening.

Next, plans were made for the musical of the year, Knickerbocker Holiday. Unfortunately the draft board was hot on the heels of our casting director, Shirley Higgins, so the preparations were put into storage for posterity. Our sympathy was extended to Betty Bornmann and her crew of designers for the wonderful plans they made, but—again the war. Ladies in Retirement (tribute to the Sem in this manless era) was substituted. A one man, six woman cast solved our problem and pointed the way for Cap and Dagger productions for the duration.

Christian

Every day the number of Bucknellians in the armed forces of our country increases by leaps and bounds. And from them we have taken our cue: to be efficient enough to win a quick victory and a lasting peace, we must decide between the significant and the insignificant, and slough off the non-essential. So the Christian Association, in order to fulfill the increasing demand for spiritual needs, found its essential program was not curtailed.

The draft necessitated frequent shifts in the Student Executive Committee which began the year with fourteen members: President Marilyn Eppley; Vice Presidents William Bowen and Jeanne Thomas; Secretary Janet Bold; Treasurer Walter Noll, and Members James Diffenderfer, William Griffiths, Walter Held, Marcia Herrgessell, Janet Leach, Mary Orso, Alexander Robbins, Marguerite Strouse, Alexander Webb. Aiding in maintaining a stable organization are General Secretary, Forrest Brown and Chairman of the Advisory Council, Allan Halline.

Spiritual needs find students continuing to attend Student Church for a quiet atmosphere of relaxation and worship, and to hear inspiring speakers such as Newton Fetter, Senor Montenegro, and Roy McCorkel. Sunday mornings find an enthusiastic group known as "The 9:30 Class" meeting at the President's House for doughnuts and coffee, and to discuss personal beliefs, postwar issues, and similar questions. Student Interest Groups continue to meet for fun and discussions.

The Handbook Staff worked hard to publish its usual fine "Bible" for the Freshmen. And after completion of the Supper Club, the Freshmen Council continued its personnel work. Under the Community Service Council, Sunday morning nurseries flourished, and a class for child supervision was begun.

Intercollegiate and Social Action Councils found their opportunities expanding. The spotlight event of the year was the Inter-American Conference held in October—the first of its kind in the country, and one which is still attracting national attention. The American Unity Committee conducted a fine series of informal forums, where we talked with such challenging speakers as Dr. Everitt Clinchy, President of the National Council of Christians and Jews. Outstanding among our visitors this year was Mrs. Way-Sung New, who won our hearts immediately with her charming sincerity—at the same time developing our sympathy and understanding for our courageous Chinese allies.

And closest to our hearts are those grateful letters arriving daily from every nook in the world—not only relating their most interesting experiences, but always expressing enthusiastic thanks for the grand work the Service Council is doing in establishing contacts by sending to them monthly letters and weekly Bucknellians wherever they may be.

And so this oldest organization on campus offers a challenging membership to all those whose vision is broad enough to transcend barriers of nationality, races, and creeds—to work to make this world at crisis one step nearer to a world of lasting peace built on brotherhood.

Freshman Supper Club

Behind the scenes

"How much water do I need for boiled rice?" . . . "Don't forget to open the draft in the furnace." . . . "Now how do you figure out this rationing by the point system?" . . . All these are common cries arising from "The Coop" on Taylor Street, where ten Bucknell co-eds learn practical lessons in domestic science, while working toward their various degrees.

When the girls say that the house is co-operative and self-sufficient, they really mean it. Not only do they do all the housework and cooking for themselves, but they tend the furnace, plan menus, and buy all the food. House chores are divided so that there is one task for each girl every day, with an extra housecleaning job for everyone on Saturdays. Tasks are divided so that B.S. students with labs every afternoon can dispose of their duties in the morning, and the A.B. students generally have afternoon duties. Of course no one is perfect, and a few unfortunate occurrences have taken place. For instance, there was the time when P—— bought five pounds of peanuts under the illusion that they were dried kidney beans; and the night that D—— thought she was using custard sauce to fill her cake, and it turned out to be chicken gravy. However, the mishaps serve to make life more interesting at "The Coop," and, despite them or perhaps because of them, each girl really learns valuable lessons in running a home.

Incidentally, Co-op House is the only girl's dormitory on the campus which can boast of a structure similar to a fraternity house, complete with study rooms, dressing rooms, and two fre-e-ezing sleeping porches.

Co-op girls' household duties, however, do not prevent them from being active on campus. They are represented in Senate, L'AGENDA, Sacred Chorus, Glee Club, the Bucknellian, Band, Orchestra, the Christian Association, and various athletic teams. The entire house participated in the Inter-American Conference last October. Last December the girls officially welcomed the entire school to the Co-op House at an open house.

Now that the Co-op House is a going and growing concern, it promises to increase in success as time goes on.

Calendar

SEPTEMBER 23-30—BACK TO BUCKNELL

Heigh ho! It's back to Bucknell we go. Schedules were settled, books were bought, and once again we "hit the books." And, gosh, those eight o'clocks came early, and that hill seemed steep after a long summer vacation!

OCTOBER 1—CONVOCATION

Chapel exercises for the Fall semester were opened by the annual convocation of the faculty and students. The speaker was Dr. Daniel Poling, pastor of the Baptist Temple in Philadelphia, and one of Bucknell's best-known fathers.

OCTOBER 23—PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE

Senor! Senorita! For the first time on any college campus, a Pan-American Conference was held for the purpose of discussing problems facing all American nations. Bucknell was host to students representing South American countries.

Among the outstanding guests of the week-end were Edward Tomlinson, noted news interpreter and analyst, Mme. Olga Coelho, brilliant Brazilian soprano and guitarist, and Manuel Prado, son of the president of Peru. On Friday evening Mr. Tomlinson delivered the key address, and throughout the week-end, conferences were held to discuss the topic, "Americans All: Youth Cooperation in the Western Hemisphere." One of the highlights of the conference was the Fiesta Dance held in the Davis Gym.

OCTOBER 30—HOMECOMING

Uninfluenced by war or world conditions, Bucknell's Homecoming week-end brought many "alums" back to the campus. Festivities officially began Friday afternoon with a soccer game between Bucknell and Temple University, and continued that evening with an enthusiastic pep rally and bonfire. Other events of the week-end included the traditional "B" Club breakfast, the Bisons' victorious game with Lafayette (13-7), the alumni banquet, and was climaxed Saturday night with the annual alumni dance in Davis Gym. Due to the restricted social program, the customary parade was not held. However, the certificate for the best decorated house was presented as usual, won this year by Phi Kappa Psi.

NOVEMBER 3—ANNE BROWN

The outstanding feature of the Bucknell University's Artist Course Program this year was the presentation of Anne Brown, the thrilling and versatile American negro soprano. Highlighting her repertoire of the evening was her splendid interpretation of George Gershwin's "Summertime," which she so marvelously portrayed in the leading role of his musical show, Porgy and Bess. Miss Brown's stirring performance will long remain in the memory of that Bucknell audience.

NOVEMBER—EXAMINATION FOR NAVAL RESERVE

The Navy came to Bucknell! Classes were cut, but professors didn't mind—the men were having their physical examination for the Naval Reserve. Those who passed the rigid exam are in the Navy now! The Bucknell men are all doing their part; if they're not in the Navy, they're in the Army. Yes, we'll "keep the flag flying."

NOVEMBER 20-21—PYGMALION

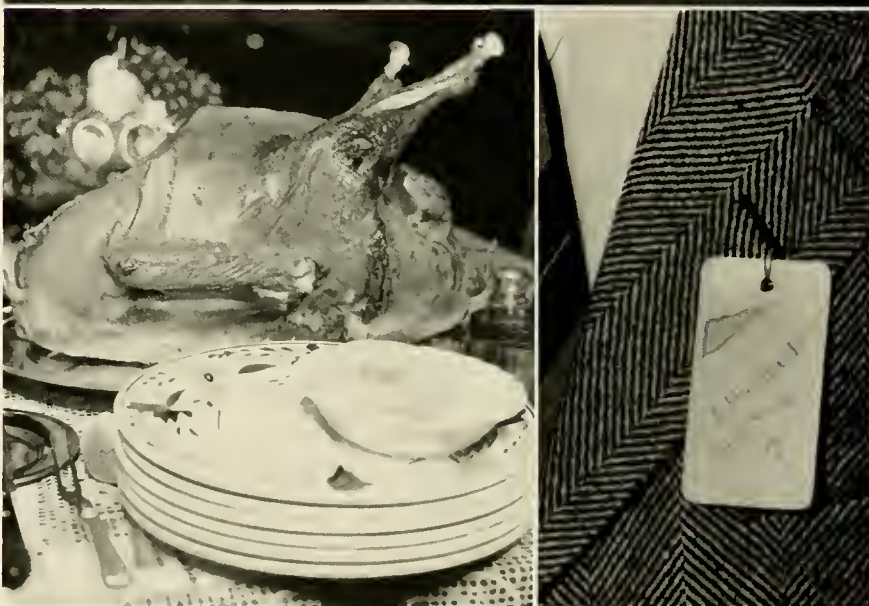

Under the able direction of Chris O'Malley, Cap and Dagger staged its first production of the year, cynical G. B. Shaw's "Pygmalion."

Bob Scharmann and Jeanne Greenig took the leading roles in the story of the transformation of a gutter-snipe to a duchess.

NOVEMBER—THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving! But, alas, we didn't partake of the family feast. Nope, we supported the administration, signed a pledge to remain on campus, and tried to convince ourselves that we'd probably eat too much if we were home. And so the accelerated program rushed on—leaving us with nostalgic memories of the drumsticks and pumpkin pie of the "good ole days." Ay me, "c'est la guerre!"

DECEMBER 1, 2, 3—RUSHING

In order to avoid the usual confusion and sleepless nights, a new system of rushing was employed. Women's rushing was deferred until after Thanksgiving. It started on October ninth, with the first of six teas for the freshmen. The Pan-Hellenic Tea preceded the three invitation rushing parties. Final bidding was delayed until December third.

After the hectic rushing period came to an end, 107 girls entered sorority life.

DECEMBER 4—SENIOR BALL

This year the usual order of social events was turned topsy-turvy. In order that those seniors graduating in January might be able to attend their class dance, Senior Ball was placed before the other big dances on the calendar.

The necessary melodies were provided by Jack Teagarden and his orchestra. Senior Ball may be said to be the outstanding feature of the winter social season.

The highlight of the evening was the promenade of fourteen coeds, from which "Jinx" Greenig was selected by the maestro to reign as queen of the ball.

DECEMBER 12—ROCHESTER

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA CONCERT

One of last Fall's most enjoyable Artist Course programs was the joint concert given by the Rochester Civic Orchestra and the Bucknell Men's Glee Club in the Davis Gymnasium. With Guy Fraser Harrison conducting, the orchestra played selections including Beethoven's "Lenore Overture No. 3" and Caesar Frank's "Symphony in D Minor."

Especially enjoyed by the Bucknellians was the Glee Club, in this, their first appearance of the year.

JANUARY 14—GOVERNOR JAMES IN CHAPEL

For the first time in its 97-year history, Bucknell conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws on a governor of the state, when President Marts conferred this degree on Arthur H. James at the combined convocation and chapel exercises on January 14. The degree was presented in recognition of "his major contribution to the American way of life."

JANUARY 30—COMMENCEMENT

This memorable date marks the first time in the history of Bucknell that a mid-year commencement has been held. At this time, 68 men and 36 women received their diplomas at the simple exercises conspicuous for their lack of pageantry and frills. Many of the graduates planned to go into war-work directly after graduation.

The outstanding feature of the program was the address given by Dr. William Pearson Tolley, chancellor of Syracuse University and president of the American Association of Colleges.

FEBRUARY 19—SOPHOMORE COTILLION

And then there was the Soph. Cotillion, one of the high spots of the social calendar. Contrary to the usual custom, the dance was strictly formal for the men, and "no corsages" was the order of the night.

Mitchell Ayres and his orchestra provided the dancers with music which was the best heard on this campus in many a day. Highlight of the evening was the orchestra's imitation of the "Make-Believe Ballroom," a fifteen-minute review of music a la Dorsey, Miller, Goodman, and other student favorites.

FEBRUARY 25—PRESIDENT MARTS IN CHAPEL

President Marts came back to the campus, leaving his duties as Captain in the U. S. Coast Guard, where he is head of the Coast Guard Port Security Regiment, to speak to us in Chapel. Listening to him and seeing him standing there in uniform made the heart of every Bucknellian swell with pride. We all resolved to follow Captain Marts' motto, "Keep the flags flying—all three of them."

FEBRUARY 28—BUCKNELL BROADCAST

Bucknell goes on the air! Over a national and short-wave hook-up, Bucknell's faculty, students, and administrative officials spoke of their pride in Bucknell's "warriors", and dramatized scenes from our campus life. Just another example of Bucknell's fine morale during these trying times.

MARCH 19—JUNIOR PROM

No, you weren't seeing double—the McFarland Twins were here with their smooth band. It was "double or nothin'" with two band leaders, twice as much fun, double-time, and to top off everything, two Prom Queens! Yes sir, each of the twins picked a Queen: Dotte Bunnell and Donna Perry shared the throne!

Well, it may have been the last of the big dances, but no one can say it was the least!

The uses and flavors of celery and lettuce all in one! Serve the tender young leaves as lettuce, or boil as greens. The solid, crisp, tender pale green stalks are delicious. Slice in strips, eat like celery, raw or cooked. Creamed the flavor suggests celery, lettuce, asparagus. Easier to grow than lettuce, different from anything you've ever grown. Packet 15c; 1/2 Oz. 35c; Oz. $1.25.

Fraternity Characteristics

Every Bucknell fraternity inherits the good and bad qualities of its founders and early members. Some are born with a price tag on its members, and others have a liquor, locker, lodge complex; but the majority are founded by Bucknell's noblemen who have enriched our way of life.

In particular, the College Inn delights to honor such men as Dr. John H. Harris, Dr. Lincoln Hulley, Christy Mathewson, Dr. Evans, Dr. Owens, Dr. Bartol, Prof. Rhodes, Louis W. Robey, Frederick B. Iglar, Cyrus Morgan, Dayton Ranck, and many more who have left a lasting impression for good in the intangible assets of Bucknell.
